

VENTILATION SYSTEMS

Air ventilation systems also have a great impact on the health of your home. Western's patented Temp Vents® open and close according to outside temperatures to promote thorough air circulation within your crawl space. This keeps the air in your home fresh, since a constant air exchange is taking place within your crawl space. With suitable air ventilation, you're less likely to have excess moisture, foundation decay, odor, mildew, or even frozen pipes and termite infestation. When your crawl space is properly ventilated with Western's Temp Vents®, it becomes a more controlled environment, which in turn, makes your entire home a healthier environment.

CRAWL SPACE MOISTURE BARRIERS

Another effective moisture combatant is our crawl space moisture barrier. Our custom-fit polyethylene barrier prevents moisture-rich soil from attacking the wood in your home. That means no crawl space odor or rotting wood to worry about. And when wood is dry, it's also less likely to become infested with insects and other pests that thrive in a humid environment.
